Purposeful Learning Through Multiple Intelligences™ is a 3-credit course that focuses on multiple intelligences as a research-based instructional approach that meets the needs of diverse learners in the classroom. Based on Howard Gardner's Theory of Multiple Intelligences, participants investigate the criteria that defines an intelligence and explore the characteristics and learning needs associated with each intelligence domain. By participating in a series of specifically designed activities for each intelligence, participants gain insight into how teaching to the multiple intelligences and the corresponding sub capacities informs and improves teaching and learning in the classroom. Participants learn to assess student' dominant intelligence, plan lessons, and incorporate activities that focus on, as well as expand exposure to, the multiple intelligences
